Student Handbook

1949-1950

PRESIDENT INGRAM

TO THE STUDENT PERSONNEL OF WEST
GEORGIA COLLEGE

The faculty joins me in giving to you a most hearty and cordial welcome. Our campus is a friendly place. Traditions are a way of life in any college community. This mode of living is characteristic of ladies and gentlemen the world over. Such statements, as college bred; tolerant and understanding; a scholar and a gentleman—all spring from that indefinable something we attain through living in and becoming a part of a school in which traditions are honored.

Here at West Georgia we are gradually building up some excellent customs—customs that are becoming traditions.

This pamphlet is printed by the Student Activities Committee. It contains information which has been found helpful to our faculty and students.

Cordially,

Irvine S. Ingram, President.

TO THE STUDENTS OF WEST GEORGIA COLLEGE

For your information and instruction we offer in the following pages the traditions, procedures, and policies of West Georgia College. This handbook is an attempt to briefly explain to you regulations that the college believes both necessary and beneficial to you for your most complete and effective development. Through it you will learn about campus activities and student participation in them.

The instructions set forth herein were not drawn up in any arbitrary fashion. The sum of the best in faculty and student experience over the years, represents long hours of discussion and consultation. They have been altered and amended from time to time when experience has demonstrated that needs and requirements have changed in a changing world. We present them to you in the firm belief that they will contribute to your effectively meeting the challenge and opportunity that life at West Georgia College holds in store for you.

We extend to you our sincere good wishes for a profitable and enjoyable college life.

Cordially,

Lucien E. Roberts,
Dean of Administration

George C. S. Adams,
Chairman, Student Activities Committee

Wales Goebel,
President, Student Body

HOME LIVING ROOM

Life at West Georgia College

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION

Each year the college faculty and the new students assemble at the college three or four days before the opening of classes for the Fall Quarter. These days are spent in acquainting the new student with his fellow students, the college faculty, and the college in general. Inspection trips are made to the various buildings and to all parts of the campus. Social and recreational hours are planned for faculty and students. Students become acquainted with their advisers, who assist them in selecting their course of study and in making out their schedules for the Fall Quarter. Physical examinations and educational tests are given.

FRESHMAN WEEK

Many features of Freshman week have already become part of the college traditions. For example the Sophomore-instigated Freshman Parade to town and around the square has become so much a part of us that both students and town folk look forward to it as an annual event of fun and frolic. This parade has in it the element of humor and is a test of good sportsmanship for both Freshmen and Sophomores. This parade takes the place of all other forms of initiation for new students.

FOOTBALL

The opening of the Fall Quarter ushers in the football season. Football is a comparatively new sport at the college; both intramural and inter-collegiate teams actively participate in this sport.

CHRISTMAS CAROLS

Just before the Christmas holidays, the college chorus presents a program of carols in the school auditorium. One night during the following week the members of the Choir go caroling at homes, hospitals, and churches in Carrollton. This gesture of goodwill and friendliness is appreciated by the entire community.

BASKETBALL

The major sport of the Winter Quarter is basketball. West Georgia's varsity basketball teams have had a long and honorable record in which the good name of the school has unfailingly been upheld by the players and student body.

DRAMATICS

Plays are an important part of our college program. The experience of being in a play is of great value. A really good college play is remembered as an outstanding event of that college year. One play is presented each quarter by those people taking the Dramatics course.

SPRING QUARTER ACTIVITIES

The Spring Quarter ushers in our busiest time. Such important events as: Parent's Day; Annual Hobby Show; May Day; the yearly Home-Coming Concert; Alumni Day, and the colorful Final Dance are all extra-curricular activities that have taken on the character of traditions because they are ardently supported. All of these and many other events have become traditional at West Georgia College. Each contributes its part to the development of the personality of the student.

DATES

It is a matter of good taste among ladies and gentlemen on a college campus to conduct themselves on a date so as to conform to the best social customs.

CAMPUS

The campus is a beauty spot in the foothills of West Georgia. Students at all times should be careful to observe the rules of campus cleanliness.

CHAPEL

Once a week the student body meets in assembly. Speakers representative of every phase of professional endeavor are selected for these occasions. Announcements concerning matters of Campus-wide interest are made at this time. Students response to these meetings is respectful and dignified.

DINING HALL

Meals at West Georgia College are served Cafeteria style from modern steam tables. Student assistants serves these meals which are planned and supervised by a Graduate Dietitian. Regular courses in Georgia culture and good eating habits encourage the students to maintain high standards of behavior in the Dining Hall.

HEALTH

The college provides the services of a Graduate Nurse for both men and women students. She has the cooperation of the practicing physicians and specialists of Carrollton.

WORK AND PLAY

One of the most important attributes of college training is that of discrimination. The capacity to put first things first is paramount. Our most important job at West Georgia is living up to individual class-room responsibilities. Play before work or instead of work is the hallmark of immaturity and childhood. Play to the exclusion of all work makes a dullard and a bore.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Student activities and organizations are an important part of life at West Georgia. Among the various clubs and activities every student finds something to stimulate his interest.

The faculty insists that everyone avail himself of the chance to participate in some manner in the community life of the college as represented by these organizations.

All activities are under the general supervision of a special committee. Each club must present to this committee a general program for the year and a definite program for the quarter. Each activity must present a financial report to this committee at the end of each quarter and an annual report at the end of the Spring Quarter. During the Fall Quarter, membership in these organizations is open to all students. A student must withdraw from an organization if he attends less than 66 percent of the meetings per quarter. Refusal to participate within a club or refusal to take assignment in certain other organizations constitutes grounds for immediate dismissal from the organization.

WHAT IS YOUR INTEREST?

The West Georgian, student newspaper, is as old as West Georgia College itself. Members of the West Georgian Staff are chosen through try-outs held at the beginning of each school year. Students who are interested or experienced in journalism are urged to come to these tryouts, which will be announced after the beginning of each Fall Quarter. The West Georgian has been awarded first class honor rating seven years by the Associated Collegiate Press. This rating places The West Georgian among the best junior college newspapers in the South.

The Chieftian, West Georgia's yearbook, was so named because the Indian was the emblem of the college. The first issue of The Chieftain appeared in the spring of 1934.

Members of the staff are chosen by means of try-outs for which any student is eligible. Staff members are selected from those students who in the try-outs show more interest and ability in journalistic and editorial work.

STUDENT AND CLASS OFFICERS AND ELECTIONS

1. In a student body election held in May, the President, Vice-President and Secretary-Treasurer of the group are elected by majority vote of the students, run-over elections being held in cases where one candidate does not receive a majority on the first ballot.

2. To qualify for candidacy for one of the above offices a student is required to file a petition personally signed by at least twenty eligible students with a committee composed of the Administrative Dean, the Chairman of the Committee on Student Activities, the President of the Student Body, or representatives the members of the committee may designate to act for them. This committee passes on the scholarship and citizenship qualifications of each would-be candidate.

3. It is the duty of the student body officers, with the assistance of the Freshman and Sophomore Class officers, and such competent assistants as they may from time to time select, to supervise student balloting and elections, and to act as a committee with the Chairman of the Committee on Student Activities, or a faculty member he may appoint, for the purpose of counting the ballots and confirming the results of the election.

4. It is likewise the duty of the student body officers to act as hosts and committeemen at certain college social functions, receptions, and entertainments, both those attended only by students and faculty and those held in honor of off-campus visitors.

5. The student body officers together with the Freshman and Sophomore class officers and such campus leaders as are selected to assist them cooperate with the college administration in promoting and adjusting college policies and procedures which contribute to the welfare of the students and to effective campus living.

6. The Freshman class elects a President, a Vice-President, and a Secretary-Treasurer during the Fall quarter after mid-term grades appear. These officers serve for the current year.

7. The rising Sophomore class elects a President, a Vice-President, and a Secretary-Treasurer near the close of the Spring quarter. These officers serve during the coming school year.

8. The officers of the student body are elected near the close of the Spring quarter and serve during the coming school year.

9. Candidates and would-be candidates for Freshman and Sophomore offices are subject to the same qualifications and election regulations and procedures as stated above for officers of the student body.

No student who at any time has been suspended, expelled, disciplined by the dean, or has violated any of the college regulations concerning gambling, use of alcohol, stealing, or cheating is eligible to run for office. The Administrative Committee, after consultation with the Committee on Elections, may bar from candidacy any student whose behavior has been such as to cast grave doubt on his ability or willingness to cooperate with the faculty and students or to exercise the kind of leadership deemed best for the harmony of the student body and the college community.

14. Each dormitory and barracks has its own house council elected by vote of its occupants. These councils preside at regular house meetings where problems and procedures for more effective dormitory living are presented and

Alma Mater

*Alma mater, alma mater, hail, hail to thee.
The shrine of our eternal love and youth
Will live forever in the ways of truth.
West Georgia lifts her head above the beauty
Of the coronets that crown the verdant hills;
Her throne securely rests amid the woodland
Where nature's sweetest tribute daily spills.
Marching feet are guided by her sure light,
Shining on the darkness like a star;
The candles of her children now are burning
To reflect a mother's spirit from afar.*
